Mount Morris Park Historic District Walking Tour and Lunch ($60) 3 HOURS

Going north from West 118th to West 124th Streets and West from Fifth Avenue to Adam Clayton Powell, Jr. Boulevard (7th Avenue) Mount Morris Park Historic District showcases a remarkable blend of late 19th and early 20th century residential and church architecture associated with the Gilded Age.

The well-known "Doctors' Row" commonly known as West 122nd Street, Mount Morris Park West, and Malcolm X Blvd. all demonstrate the remarkable survival of substantially unaltered 19th-century streetscapes, rare in most areas of Manhattan.

Additional Information

The Harlem Safe House Jazz Parlor and Harlem Afternoon Jazz Series are artistically directed by Craig Harris, a trombonist, composer and longtime Harlem resident. When Craig Harris exploded onto the jazz scene in 1976, he brought the entire history of the jazz trombone with him. From the growling gutbucket intensity of early New Orleans music through the refined, articulate improvisation of the modern era set forth by J.J. Johnson, into the confrontational expressionism of the '60s avant-garde, Craig handled the total vernacular the way a skilled orator utilizes the spoken word. He has performed with a veritable Who's Who of progressive jazz's most influential figures, and his projects display both a unique sense of concept and a total command of the sweeping expanse of musical expression. It is those two qualities that have dominated Craig's past thirty years of activity, bringing him far beyond the confines of the jazz world, into the sphere of multimedia and performance art as composer, performer, conceptualist, curator and artistic director.

Welcome to Harlem recent reviews

"Ted Daniel at Harlem Jazz Afternoons"

We attended this lunchtime concert on our last day in the city and it proved to be a highlight of our week's stay. Ted Daniel is a renowned world-class trumpeter (and cornet player) with a first class group who played an unhackneyed repertoire superbly. It was a joy to meet another of my musical heroes- Craig Harris- who was hosting the event and meeting Carolyn from Welcome to Harlem was the icing on the cake- very friendly and welcoming. I'll be certainly booking a Harlem tour on my next visit.

"Week in NYC"

Excellent tour and amazing value for money. Our guide was very knowledgeable and enthusiastic about the area being a resident and she seemed to know everybody. The tour lasted about 6 hours in total and hearing about the history and plans for future preservation of historical buildings was interesting. The singing and musical accompaniment at the church service was to a very high standard and the brunch was good at a really cool restaurant. Highly recommended.

"Could not recommend more highly"

Took this tour with Carolyn today, and it was phenomenal. She combined a deep knowledge of Harlem's history and development with an invaluable understanding of the neighborhood as it is today. Carolyn doesn't just know the neighborhood; she lives it. She can give a rundown of the various beautiful old brownstones and churches in the neighborhood, their histories, and the people that presently live there. What you get is a rarity-- a tour that combines a book knowledge of the area with a local's understanding of what it is today.

"Welcome To Harlem"

This the third time that I've brought a group of students on a Harlem tour with Carolyn. She is brilliant, kind, and professional in every way; and a passionate ambassador for Harlem's history and transformation. My students repeatedly said that the tour of Harlem was the highlight of their three days in NYC. They loved Carolyn's guidance, the food, and especially the Sunday morning gospel service. I look forward to next year's walk through Harlem with Carolyn! I cannot more highly recommend Welcome to Harlem.
